

Eileen & the In-Betweens is the musical vehicle for Albuquerque-based singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist Eileen Shaughnessy. Eileen, originally from Minnesota, has toured around the U.S. with Eileen & the In-Betweens and previous band the ExLovers. Eileen has gained a committed following in Albuquerque by regularly performing around town solo and with the band. When she's not performing, Eileen teaches at the University of New Mexico in the Sustainability Studies and Women Studies Programs. Eileen's songs often reflect the complex material she teaches: feminism, racial justice, and concern for the earth.

Everything is Alive is Eileen's second full-length album. The album features a number of Albuquerque's most celebrated musicians and vocalists, such as world beat legends Wagogo, Christy Cook and Stephanie Graner (Cactus Tractor, Albuquerque Boys Choir), Dave Holtkamp (Let it Grow), Colin Baillio (Brush Strokes) and Seth Hoffman. The album moves through genres with eclectic influences in folk, dance, indie, alt-country, and pop music. The songs cover personal themes of love and healing as well as more political themes pertinent to the Southwest such as nuclear destruction, water issues, and climate change. Right from the beginning, with the uplifting and catchy title track "Everything is Alive," the listener can hear that this is an album full of passion and heart.
